London, April 20.

Yesterday arrived from Holland the Mail of Tuesday last.

Vienna, April 12.

WE have Letters from Adrianople of the 22d of March, which advise, that the King of Sweden was at a Castle within three Leagues of that Town, and had desired a Personal Interview with the Sultan, upon which Request the Ottoman Court was deliberating. In the mean while the Sultan had caused all Assurances of Friendship and of an intire Satisfaction to be given to him, having caused 5000 Ducats to be paid to him in part of the Reimbursement of his Losses at Bender, and 2000 to be sent to King Stanislaus. These Advices add, that the Preparations for War against the Muscovites were continued with Vigour, and that a Bridge was laying over the Neister. The Letters from Wallachia and Transylvania tell us, that the Affairs of the King of Sweden are already so changed in his Favour, that the Musli has been deposed, and another put into his Room, that the Cham of the Tartars will be banished by the Sultan, and that the Bashaw of Bender will lose his Head; but this News requires Confirmation. The Fear of the Plague is renewed here, and not without some Cause, wherefore a good Number of People desert this City, notwithstanding the Prohibitions, to retire to Bohemia and Silesia. The Emperour's Departure for Laxembourg is fixed to the 20th, and as the three Courts of the Imperial Family are preparing to set out at the same time for Barden and Meedlingen, the Publick are apprehensive that the Departure of the Emperour for Laxembourg to take the Air, is only a Pretext for removing out of the way of the Contagion; though after all Fear represents the Danger much greater than it is. General Daun is let out from hence for the Viceroyalty of Naples. M. Quarient Sub-Marshal, famous for the Code of the Laws of Austria which he compiled and digested, is dead.

From the Hague Courant, dated April 26.

Holstein, April 20. Last Week was held at Hum a Privy Council in the Presence of the King of Denmark, to which Major-General Mestling, Brigadier Cigignon, and Colonel vander Luhe were called. On Saturday Evening last these three Gentlemen set out for Tonningen, to remain there as Hostages, till Count Steinbock who was to confer at Oldensworth with Count Fleming, General Scholten, and Prince Menzikof about an Accomodation, should return. The said Conferences were held the 18th Instant, but we are told they proved fruitless, and that the Swedes will speedily be attacked in their Intrenchments.

Hambourg, April 21. The Reports we have here of the Negociations with Count Steinbock, are yet very uncertain; for some say they are quite broken off, and others that an Agreement is as good as concluded; so that we must wait a Day or two to be rightly informed.

Hague, April 25. As soon as the Duke d'Osuna had notified, by a Gentleman, his Arrival to all the Ministers Plenipotentiaries at Utrecht, he received Visits from those of Great-Britain, Portugal, Prussia, Savoy, and the States; but those of the Emperour and Empire only sent to him their Counter-Compliments. Count Sinzendorf before his Departure from Utrecht, acquainted the Emperour by his last Dispatches the exact Route he should take for Vienna, to the End he may receive his Orders touching the Peace in his Journey. In the mean while he has broke up Housekeeping at Utrecht, has renewed the Lease of the House he has here for one Year more, and ordered all his Goods and Equipage to be brought back to it from Utrecht. 'Tis advised from Utrecht, that the Ratification of the Peace Signed by the Plenipotentiaries of France the 11th Instant at Utrecht, are already arrived there from Versailles: The Ratifications of the Provinces of Friseland and Overysse arrived here Yesterday, and we daily expect those of the other Provinces; and we make Account that within 8 Days from this time, the Ratifications of the Peace between England the States General and France will be exchanged. As the Contributions will then cease, the Troops paid here out of that Fund will immediately be dismissed: The Saxons, those of Wirtemberg, Part of the Hessians, and half of the Regiment of Bothmar, are of that Number; and they will be forthwith ordered to march and augment the Army of the Empire.
